Citing an "epidemic" of gun violence, the Service Employees International Union (SEIU) said that "it is time to hold Eric Holder accountable for his failure to protect working Americans." The union's accusation came in a press release earlier this week as a fundraising appeal for its members. The statement came as part of a broader push by the union to improve working conditions for those who work for "some of the most powerful institutions in this country." The release singles out Holder for not doing enough to prosecute the "gun epidemic" that erupted during the 2008 election year. The political charge comes after last week's Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on the Fast and Furious case. On the first day of the hearing, angry protestors dressed in gas masks held up signs and shouted things like, "Take the NRA out of government." In the month after the hearing, SEIU has made at least two public statements about Fast and Furious. First, in a statement sent to media, the union said that it "continues to be concerned about the failure of Attorney General Eric Holder to act on the information that gun traffickers were supplied guns through the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) in Operation Fast and Furious." On February 14, the day after the public hearings, the union released a press release, calling for the firing of Attorney General Eric Holder for his failure to prosecute gun crime in the border town of Arizona. SEIU's general counsel, Lori J. Lamb, wrote that "it is time to hold Eric Holder accountable for his failure to protect working Americans." "For nearly a decade, working Americans have been forced to live with the epidemic of gun violence that gun industry lobbyists have helped to create," Lamb wrote. In that press release, Lamb stated that Holder "should resign or be fired." In the release, Lamb goes on to say: It's time for Eric Holder to fire the gun-industry "policemen" who have infiltrated the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms and are responsible for Operation Fast and Furious.... These "policemen" have not only failed to investigate and prosecute guns-trafficking investigations, but they have also been protecting gun industry interests. " 82157476af
